2 Conclusion

In this workshop, you obtained a practical experience with the HPE ilorest Redfish tool. In the first part, you learned how to use this tool interactively, in script and debug mode, throughout multiple basic examples. In the second part, you had access to a set of examples that were formulated based on recurrent questions from HPE customers. You should now have a solid base of knowledge to use to practice by yourself and become extremely efficient in the management tasks of your servers.

Congratulations!
